

Exercise strengthens and improves the components of physical fitness. Improved physical fitness allows one to move more efficiently. Physical activity is done with better ease and less constraint. The better you can move, the more inclined you are to exercise.. and the cycle continues!

